In early preschool, we did some wonderful activities where we learned about the difference in high, low and fast, and slow. We had some adventures doing this while using wands, great motor skills, and fine motor skills are getting tuned well. We are also practicing our social and emotional skills by discussing books by knowing what each finds in that story. Heggerty is starting to come along, we are starting to understand the beginning and final sounds. We had the rhyming words down. Steam was exciting this week, they made blow rockets. I hope that everyone will have a wonderful weekend. I can't wait to see everyone's smiling faces next week. Please feel free to reach out to me at abeirkemeyer@eickacademy.com. Ms.Amanda
